Orbital to begin trading on NYSE Amex on Thursday, 25 August 2011

PERTH, AUSTRALIA – 11 August 2011 – Orbital Corporation Limited (ASX: OEC – “Orbital”), today advises the market that its American Depository Receipts (ADR’s) will begin trading on the NYSE Amex under the symbol OBT on Thursday, 25 August 2011.

Knight Capital Americas, L.P. will be Orbital’s specialist on NYSE Amex.

“We are very pleased that NYSE Amex has authorised Orbital to list” said Terry Stinson, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer of Orbital. “Our United States based ADR holders represent approximately 20% of our shareholder base and this move will provide improved stock liquidity and will enhance Orbital’s profile in the US share market”.

“The application of alternative fuels for automobiles and trucks and improved fuel economy are front and centre in the US. Investors who are monitoring these developments will be interested to understand what Orbital has to offer.” added Mr Stinson.

Orbital’s ordinary shares will continue to trade on the Australian Stock Exchange under the symbol OEC.

About NYSE Amex:

NYSE Amex is a platform launched by NYSE Euronext after acquiring the former American Stock Exchange in late 2008. NYSE Amex is designed to meet the demands of small-to-medium size enterprises (SMEs) that do not necessarily meet the NYSE’s higher listing standards. NYSE Amex plays an important role helping SMEs, including those from abroad raise capital in the U.S. market. NYSE Amex provides the same hi-tech, hi-touch market model as the NYSE; issuers enjoy the same exposure and brand association as NYSE-listed companies.
