Energy One Limited enters into Heads of Agreement with EDW Technology to distribute it's ETRM Solution in Europe

Energy One, Australia's leading provider of ETRM solutions today announced that it had agreed terms with EDW Technology, to distribute Energy One's ETRM software in Europe. EDW Technology is a leading provider of energy billing solutions to the market, having a number of installations across the UK.

"We are delighted Energy One's leading ETRM solution is now being expanded into the UK and Europe," commented Shaun Ankers (CEO, Energy One). "We wanted to partner with an organisation that understood the energy market, had a local focus and solutions that could be integrated and developed to enhance the offering to the customer. Subsequently, EDW was a good fit for us."

The companies are working through the details of a distribution agreement, in which EOL and EDW will work together to modify & enhance the solution for the UK and European market.

"We're pleased to add the ETRM product to our solution set," commented Simon Miles (MD, EDW), "With our current offerings, understanding of the local market, coupled with a comprehensive ETRM product means we can now provide our customers with a complete integrated end-to-end solution."
