Transfer of Windsor's Caravan Manufacturing Activities to Western Australia

Over the next three months, Fleetwood will transfer Windsor's caravan manufacturing activities to the company's main facility in Western Australia.

Fleetwood has two caravan brands, with Coromal Caravans being manufactured in Western Australia and Windsor Caravans manufactured in Victoria.

Coromal and Windsor currently operate independently of each other resulting in some duplication of production and overhead costs. The facility in Western Australia has the capacity to manufacture the combined production volumes of both brands.

The transfer of production to Western Australia presents opportunities to improve production efficiencies and the designs of both brands while retaining the distinct individual characteristics of each.

The transfer process will attract one off costs in the first half of the financial year which will be offset by a reduction in overheads and other synergies during the second half of the year.
