DICKER DATA TO DISTRIBUTE WATCHGUARD'S FULL RANGE OF SECURITY DEVICES

Dicker Data is pleased to announce the signing of internet security solution vendor WatchGuard. Effective immediately, Dicker Data will gain access to the full range of WatchGuard products including their award winning UTM devices. Dicker Data joins as WatchGuard's third distribution partner in Australia alongside Distribution Central and WhiteGold Solutions.

Chairman and CEO, David Dicker, said "We look forward to developing our new partnership with WatchGuard. Their sole focus on security aligns with our needs and the demands of our SMB resellers. Together, there is an opportunity for us to develop strong synergies between our businesses."

WatchGuard's Regional Director, Australia and New Zealand, Pat Devlin, said "We are very excited about this new partnership. Dicker Data has enjoyed huge growth over the last three years and this partnership now opens up opportunities for WatchGuard to connect with new partners. In the first quarter this year, we reported our highest quarterly billings in the history of the company. Here in ANZ, we are into our eighth consecutive quarter of double-digit growth and our business shows no sign of slowing. We look forward to working closely with Dicker Data moving forward to continue this momentum. Indeed, their deep industry experience coupled with their technical excellence and service expertise will be of major benefit and provide a positive impact to our business in Australia at this time."
