FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE*WorleyParsons to put project engineering in Data#3 Cloud*Data#3 awarded long-term cloud services contract with WorleyParsons

February, 25, 2014; Brisbane, Australia: Data#3 Limited, one of Australia's leading business technology solutions companies, today announced it has been successful in an open market bid with WorleyParsons for a multi-year, multi-million dollar Infrastructure as a Service (IaaS) agreement.

Under the agreement, WorleyParsons will move the infrastructure that supports its Bentley Project Wise platform to Data#3's Cloud. This transition will provide a high availability and flexible environment to scale to the project's fluctuating needs.

Data#3 Managing Director John Grant said that the company was delighted to be able to work with WorleyParsons to deliver on the promise of scalable, cost-effective cloud infrastructure to support critical engineering applications.

"This is a terrific solution for WorleyParsons and further validation of our Hybrid IT strategy from on-premise to outsourced to cloud. Our proposal was successful through a very competitive bidding process and Data#3's IaaS will provide an online, scalable and secure platform for WorleyParsons' strategic engineering applications enabling multiple concurrent users to log-on and change live detailed engineering specifications.

"There are few organisations in Australia that have embarked on such an innovative project and we're delighted to work with WorleyParsons to deliver this transformation of their IT infrastructure," concluded Grant.
