DICKER DATA AND NEXTDC PARTNER TO PROVIDE COLOCATION SERVICES

Partnership to Enable Affordable Data Centre Solutions to Partners Selling Cloud solutions

The Board of Directors of Dicker Data Limited (ASX: DDR) are pleased to announce our new strategic partnership with ASX300-listed company NEXTDC (ASX: NXT). Aimed at DDR's extensive base of SMB resellers, this new partnership unlocks space in NEXTDC's award-winning, UTI Tier III-certified data centres at an affordable price & provides a way for partners to take their first steps into cloud and colocation services.

David Dicker, Chairman & CEO, Dicker Data Limited, said "Our new partnership with NEXTDC is the next step in the Cloud solution sell for us. We currently hold a strong share of the server market and we're now able to give our partners a place to put that kit on a consumption basis."

NEXTDC CEO Craig Scroggie comments, "Our new business relationship with Dicker Data creates a unique opportunity for organisations to combine Dicker Data's specialist IT technology expertise with NEXTDC's next-generation Data-Centre-as-a-Service in the one high-reliability, customised deployment."

"Dicker Data's commitment to simplify and drive data centre solutions for the SMB channel is well matched by NEXTDC's own products and services. Together, we will enable the Australian channel by offering the ideal package for anyone considering a move to public or private cloud computing solutions colocated with their own infrastructure."

The new partnership between Dicker Data and NEXTDC enables partners to purchase solutions from quarter racks up to multiple full racks to ensure the service offering is scalable in line with our partner's growth. Dicker Data is able to offer these solutions to its partners effective immediately.
