Business Update

HUB24 has recorded its first positive half of profit before tax for the half year ended 31 December 2016, having been profitable on a monthly basis since June 2016³, resulting from ongoing FUA growth and strong net inflows.

We remain dedicated to providing extensive and unbiased investment choice from around the globe for advisers and their clients. HUB24 has launched 20 new domestic managed portfolios during the quarter and increased the number of international managed portfolios available on the platform to 10. In addition, advisers and their clients are now able to invest directly in individual international shares across 15 exchanges and take advantage of global investment opportunities using the same award winning platform interface.

The HUB24 Account Open API has been released which allows 3rd party applications, such as financial planning software, SMSF software, robo advice channels and licensee adviser desktops to automatically create HUB24 Investment and Superannuation accounts without the need for advisers to re-enter client information they have already captured. This will save advisers time and make it easier to implement their client recommendations.

Managing Director Andrew Alcock commented on the quarterly update saying “Our focus on providing exceptional products and services to our clients has resulted in HUB24 delivering its first half year of profitability. Continuing strong inflows, the ongoing enhancement of our market leading platform and the growth of Paragem have all contributed to these pleasing results.

We are excited about the future of wealth management in Australia and look forward to our expanding role as the industry continues to provide better and more valuable solutions for advisers and their clients. Our acquisition of Agility Applications underscores our commitment to continual innovation with the aim of creating enduring products that offer real choice and real benefits across the board”.
