Profit Guidance

Furniture retailer Nick Scali Limited (ASX:NCK) today advises that based on the continuation of positive trading conditions to the end of April following on from the financial year 2017 half year results announcement on 14th February 2017, current expectation is for net profit after tax for the full year to June 2017 to be in the range of $36m-$37m which is an increase of around 40% over the previous corresponding period.

Pleasingly, same store sales for the four months to April 2017 have continued at double digit growth and recent and proposed new store openings should assist results into the 2017/2018 financial year.
