Aeris Awarded Sodexo Master Service Agreement

Aeris Environmental Ltd (Aeris or the Company) is pleased to announce that it has been awarded a Master Service Agreement by Sodexo for its environmental hygiene protection systems to be utilised for the built environment for on-site camps, such as mining, in Australia. This follows an extensive evaluation of Aeris' products, their performance, OH&S and environmental characteristics and quality compliance systems.

The first phase has been successfully delivered on or ahead of all KPIs. This opening contract was for $241,000, and in addition to this, a further $77,000 worth of work was delivered once on site, taking this total project to a value in excess of $318,000. The focus of this initial contract within the Master Service Agreement was the deep cycle hygiene maintenance of 808 high wall split air-conditioning units, delivering improved indoor environmental conditions and material energy savings.

Mr Peter Bush, Aeris' CEO, said: "Aeris has been executing on its strategy to be a 'solution' provider to leading end-user customers, facility managers and applicators worldwide with investment in its core product streams assisting the Company to drive deeper into existing customers, and leveraging its 'green' technologies into high-value contracts and geographies".
