Appendix

There are a number of risks, both specific to the Company and of a general nature, which may, either individually or in combination, affect the future operational and financial performance of the Company and the value of its securities. These include risks that are widespread and associated with any form of business and specific risks associated with the Company's business and its involvement in the exploration and mining industry generally. While most risk factors are largely beyond the control of the Company and its directors, the Company will seek to mitigate the risks where possible. An investment in the Company's shares is considered to be speculative due to the nature of the Company's business and the present stage of its development.

The Company has identified the following non-exhaustive list of some of the major risk factors which you need to be aware of in evaluating the Company's business and investing in securities. There is no guarantee that other factors will not affect the Company in the future.

OPERATIONAL RISKS

Ability to achieve production and cost targets

MLX has provided production and cost targets in relation to the company's projects. Whilst MLX considers that targets are reasonable, no assurance can be given that MLX will achieve its production and cost targets. These targets are subject to a number of factors, many of which cannot be foreseen and are beyond MLX's control. MLX's mining operations are subject to operating risks that could result in decreased production, increased costs and reduced revenues. These risks include (among other things) inaccurate mineral reserve and resource estimates, failing to locate mineral deposits, failing to achieve predicted ore grades, losing key personnel, changes to the cost and supply of consumables, unforeseen geological and operating difficulties, unexpected maintenance or mechanical failures, industrial and environmental accidents or disputes, or adverse weather conditions.

Ore reserve and mineral resource estimates

Estimating mineral reserves and mineral resources is a subjective process and the accuracy of any reserve or resource estimate is a function of the interpretation and extrapolation of a limited amount of geological data and, as such, is dependent on the quantity and quality of available data. Estimates of recoverable quantities of proven and probable reserves include assumptions regarding commodity prices, exchange rates, discount rates, production and transportation costs for future cash flow. The economic, geological and technical factors used to estimate reserves may change from time to time. Any material reductions in MLX's existing estimated mineral reserves and mineral resources, or of its ability to extract these mineral reserves and resources could have a material adverse effect on MLX's operating results and financial position

Nifty expansion and development risks

MLX intends to expand production throughput at Nifty. There are a number of risks and uncertainties that are associated with the ramp-up of Nifty that are largely beyond the control of MLX. These include: inherent risks associated with development in new mining areas outside of the historical mining area; the outcome of the further drill programs; the ability of MLX to complete the various work programs associated with the various stages of the development; addressing any outstanding approval, landholder, native title, cultural heritage and community issues that may arise and unexpected technical, geographical or geological issues.

If faced by MLX, these risks and uncertainties could result in MLX not realising development and expansion plans or in such plans generating less revenue than expected, costing more than expected or taking longer to realise than expected. Any of these outcomes could have an adverse effect on MLX's financial and operating performance.

Renison development risk

MLX intends to further develop Renison by the re-processing and recovery of tin and copper from historical tailings and a Definitive Feasibility Study (DFS) is complete. Such development plans will only be pursued if prevailing market conditions support the economics of the development. There is a risk that work performed as part of the DFS will generate different results to those generated. Like normal mining projects of this nature further development and expansion will be subject to capital expenditure, potential financing and a number of regulatory approvals. There are a number of risks and uncertainties that are associated with the tailings development of Renison that are largely beyond the control of MLX. These include: obtaining required regulatory approvals and licenses; the ability of MLX to complete the various work programs associated with the various stages of the development (including the availability of adequate funding to do so); addressing any outstanding approval, landholder, native title, cultural heritage and community issues that may arise and unexpected technical, geographical or geological issues.

If faced by MLX, these risks and uncertainties could result in MLX not realising development plans or in such plans generating less revenue than expected, costing more than expected or taking longer to realise than expected. Any of these outcomes could have an adverse effect on MLX's financial and operating performance.

Unforeseen environmental risks

MLX's operations and activities are subject to environmental laws and regulations in Australia. As with all mining operations and exploration projects, MLX's operations may substantially impact the environment or cause exposure to hazardous materials. Copper, nickel, tin and cobalt exploration and production can affect the environment and result in substantial costs being incurred for environmental risk management, rehabilitation and damage control. Further, environmental conditions may be attached to mining tenements, and a failure to comply with these conditions may lead to forfeiture of the relevant tenements. MLX is also unable to predict the effect of additional environmental laws and regulations which may be adopted in the future, including whether any such laws or regulations would materially increase MLX's cost of doing business or affect its operations in any manner.

MLX may also be subject to claims due to environmental damage arising out of current or former activities at sites that MLX owns or operates. This could have an adverse effect on MLX's financial and operational performance.

Security of tenure

There is a risk that necessary land use approvals (including, in respect of any native title rights and cultural heritage sites), mining tenements and environmental permits may not be obtained, granted or renewed, or may be obtained, granted or renewed on terms not satisfactory to MLX, or may be obtained, granted or renewed but not within the timeframes anticipated by MLX. Such applications are at the discretion of relevant government bodies and ministries in the jurisdiction.

Potential legislative changes that could adversely impact operations

MLX's mining operations are subject to extensive government regulations and policies with respect to matters such as land use, employee health and safety, royalties, rehabilitation of mining properties, and environmental damage and pollution (among other matters). Any failure to comply with regulations or policies may result in penalties for non-compliance, which could have an adverse effect on MLX's financial and operational performance. These regulations and policies regularly change and may become more restrictive, impose stricter standards and increase penalties for non-compliance. Any future changes in these regulations or policies may adversely affect MLX's financial performance. Additional capital commitments or investment may be required to ensure compliance with such laws, regulations and policies, and operational activities may be delayed or prevented entirely.

Dependence on key personnel and labour

Retaining and recruiting qualified personnel is critical to MLX's success. If MLX cannot retain and attract qualified personnel, and if those personnel do not operate effectively, it could adversely affect MLX's current exploration, development and production operations and its future growth plans.

GENERAL RISKS

Risks associated with investment in equity securities

There are general risks associated with any investments in equity capital. Securities listed on a stock market, and in particular securities of mining and exploration companies, have experienced volatile price and volume fluctuations that have often been unrelated to the operating performance of such companies. The trading price of MLX shares may experience fluctuations with movements in equity capital markets in Australia and internationally that may be unrelated to MLX's operating performance. This may result in the market price for the new shares issued being less or more than the offer price. Generally applicable factors which may affect the market price of shares include: general movements in Australian and international stock markets; investor sentiment; Australian and international economic conditions and outlook, changes in interest rates and the rate of inflation; changes in government regulation and policies; announcement of new technologies; and geo-political instability, including international hostilities and acts of terrorism. No assurances can be given that the new shares issued will trade at or above the offer price. None of MLX, its Board or any other person guarantees the market performance of the new shares issued.

Fluctuation in commodity prices to which MLX is exposed

MLX's revenues and cash flows are highly dependent on the price of various commodities, including, but not limited to, copper, tin, nickel and cobalt, which have been particularly volatile in recent times. Generally speaking, commodity prices are volatile and subject to a variety of factors which are beyond MLX's control, including global supply, decreased demand, currency exchange rates, general economic conditions, regulatory changes and other factors. Depending on hedging practices, future price declines in the market value of the various commodities MLX is exposed to may adversely impact on MLX's profit margins, future development and planned future production, which may in turn adversely impact the price of MLX's shares.

Risk of financing not being available if and when required

MLX may need to raise debt or equity funds in the future to fund its exploration, development and production activities depending on the profitability of its operations at the relevant time. There is no assurance that MLX will be able to obtain debt or equity funding when required, or that the terms associated with that funding will be acceptable to MLX.

Fluctuation in foreign exchange rates

Exchange rate fluctuations impact MLX's profitability. MLX's revenues from commodity sales is received in US dollars, while the majority of its expenses (including financing costs) are incurred in Australian dollars. Foreign exchanges rates are impacted by a number of factors beyond MLX's control. Depending on hedging practices, if the Australian dollar appreciates in value against the US dollar then MLX's financial results may be adversely affected due to the potential lower Australian dollar receipts available to cover costs.

Litigation and disputes

As at the date of this document, MLX is not aware of any material litigation or disputes being undertaken. However, MLX may become involved in litigation or disputes, which could adversely affect the financial position or performance of MLX.

Potential changes to taxation legislation

Changes to income tax (including capital gains tax), GST, duty, greenhouse gas emission taxes, mining royalties or any other applicable taxation legislation or policies in the jurisdictions where MLX operates may adversely affect MLX's financial profitability, net assets and cash flow.

Completion risk

MLX has entered into a placement agreement with Citigroup Global Markets Australia Pty Limited and Macquarie Capital (Australia) Limited (together, the Joint Lead Managers) in connection with the Placement (Placement Agreement) under which the Joint Lead Managers have agreed to use best endeavours to secure potential investors and provide settlement support under the Placement. The Joint Lead Managers' obligations under the Placement Agreement are subject to satisfaction of standard conditions and certain customary termination events and rights, including material declines in S&P/ASX300 index and the LME copper price. If the Placement Agreement is terminated, investors in the Placement would be released from their commitments to acquire Placement Shares and therefore such termination would affect the amount raised by MLX.

International Offer Restrictions

This document does not constitute an offer of new ordinary shares ("New Shares") of the Company in any jurisdiction in which it would be unlawful. In particular, this document may not be distributed to any person, and the New Shares may not be offered or sold, in any country outside Australia except to the extent permitted below.

Canada (British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec provinces)

This document constitutes an offering of New Shares only in the Provinces of British Columbia, Ontario and Quebec (the "Provinces") and to those persons to whom they may be lawfully distributed in the Provinces, and only by persons permitted to sell such New Shares. This document is not, and under no circumstances is to be construed as, an advertisement or a public offering of securities in the Provinces. This document may only be distributed in the Provinces to persons that are "accredited investors" within the meaning of NI 45-106 – Prospectus Exemptions, of the Canadian Securities Administrators.

No securities commission or similar authority in the Provinces has reviewed or in any way passed upon this document, the merits of the New Shares or the offering of New Shares and any representation to the contrary is an offence.

No prospectus has been, or will be, filed in the Provinces with respect to the offering of New Shares or the resale of such securities. Any person in the Provinces lawfully participating in the offer will not receive the information, legal rights or protections that would be afforded had a prospectus been filed and receipted by the securities regulator in the applicable Province. Furthermore, any resale of the New Shares in the Provinces must be made in accordance with applicable Canadian securities laws which may require resales to be made in accordance with exemptions from dealer registration and prospectus requirements. These resale restrictions may in some circumstances apply to resales of the New Shares outside Canada and, as a result, Canadian purchasers should seek legal advice prior to any resale of the New Shares.

The Company as well as its directors and officers may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible for purchasers to effect service of process within Canada upon the Company or its directors or officers. All or a substantial portion of the assets of the Company and such persons may be located outside Canada and, as a result, it may not be possible to satisfy a judgment against the Company or such persons in Canada or to enforce a judgment obtained in Canadian courts against the Company or such persons outside Canada.

Any financial information contained in this document has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards and also comply with International Financial Reporting Standards and interpretations issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. Unless stated otherwise, all dollar amounts contained in this document are in Australian dollars.

Statutory rights of action for damages and rescission

Securities legislation in certain of the Provinces may provide purchasers with, in addition to any other rights they may have at law, rights of rescission or to damages, or both, when an offering memorandum that is delivered to purchasers contains a misrepresentation. These rights and remedies must be exercised within prescribed time limits and are subject to the defenses contained in applicable securities legislation. Prospective purchasers should refer to the applicable provisions of the securities legislation of their respective Province for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal adviser.

The following is a summary of the statutory rights of rescission or to damages, or both, available to purchasers in Ontario. In Ontario, every purchaser of the New Shares purchased pursuant to this document (other than (a) a "Canadian financial institution" or a "Schedule III bank" (each as defined in NI 45-106), (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in (a) or (b) above, if the person owns all the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by the directors of that subsidiary) shall have a statutory right of action for damages and/or rescission against the Company if this document or any amendment thereto contains a misrepresentation. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the Company. This right of action for rescission or damages is in addition to and without derogation from any other right the purchaser may have at law. In particular, Section 130.1 of the Securities Act (Ontario) provides that, if this document contains a misrepresentation, a purchaser who purchases the New Shares during the period of distribution shall be deemed to have relied on the misrepresentation if it was a misrepresentation at the time of purchase and has a right of action for damages or, alternatively, may elect to exercise a right of rescission against the Company, provided that (a) the Company will not be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the New Shares with knowledge of the misrepresentation; (b) in an action for damages, the Company is not liable for all or any portion of the damages that the Company proves does not represent the depreciation in value of the New Shares as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and (c) in no case shall the amount recoverable exceed the price at which the New Shares were offered.

Section 138 of the Securities Act (Ontario) provides that no action shall be commenced to enforce these rights more than (a) in the case of any action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action or (b) in the case of any action, other than an action for rescission, the earlier of (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the fact giving rise to the cause of action or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action. These rights are in addition to and not in derogation from any other right the purchaser may have.

Certain Canadian income tax considerations. Prospective purchasers of the New Shares should consult their own tax adviser with respect to any taxes payable in connection with the acquisition, holding or disposition of the New Shares as any discussion of taxation related matters in this document is not a comprehensive description and there are a number of substantive Canadian tax compliance requirements for investors in the Provinces.

Language of documents in Canada. Upon receipt of this document, each investor in Canada hereby confirms that it has expressly requested that all documents evidencing or relating in any way to the sale of the New Shares (including for greater certainty any purchase confirmation or any notice) be drawn up in the English language only. Par la réception de ce document, chaque investisseur canadien confirme par les présentes qu'il a expressément exigé que tous les documents faisant foi ou se rapportant de quelque manière que ce soit à la vente des valeurs mobilières décrites aux présentes (incluant, pour plus de certitude, toute confirmation d'achat ou tout avis) soient rédigés en anglais seulement.

China

The information in this document does not constitute a public offer of the New Shares, whether by way of sale or subscription, in the People's Republic of China (excluding, for purposes of this paragraph, Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, Macau Special Administrative Region and Taiwan). The New Shares may not be offered or sold directly or indirectly in the PRC to legal or natural persons other than directly to "qualified domestic institutional investors", sovereign wealth funds and quasi-government investment funds.

Germany

This document has been prepared on the basis that all offers of New Shares will be made pursuant to an exemption under the Directive 2003/71/EC ("Prospectus Directive"), as amended and implemented in Germany, from the requirement to publish a prospectus for offers of securities. An offer to the public of New Shares has not been made, and may not be made, in Germany except pursuant to one of the following exemptions under the Prospectus Directive as implemented in Germany:
