2022 Prize for Innovation in the Prime Minister's Prizes for Science

Chrysos Corporation Ltd (ASX:C79) ("Chrysos" or the "Company") is pleased to announce Chrysos Managing Director and CEO Dirk Treasure, Chrysos Chief Technology Officer Dr James Tickner, and Dr Nick Cutmore, former Research Director / Program Manager at Australia's national science agency, CSIRO, have received the Prize for Innovation in the 2022 Prime Minister's Prizes for Science.

All three recipients are recognised for the successful development and commercialisation of PhotonAssay™ technology which delivers faster, safer, more accurate and environmentally-friendly analysis of gold, silver, copper and other elements.

The Prime Minister's Prizes for Science are Australia's most prestigious awards for outstanding achievements in scientific research, research-based innovation and excellence in science teaching. Prizes were presented to the winners last night at Parliament House in Canberra by the Hon Anthony Albanese MP, Prime Minister of Australia, and the Hon Ed Husic MP, Minister for Industry and Science.

Chrysos Managing Director and CEO Dirk Treasure commented: "It is an honour to receive the 2022 Prize for Innovation alongside James and Nick. However, we see the award as recognition of our wider team and all our supporters along the journey who believed in the potential of PhotonAssay technology to revolutionise the mining industry, not just in Australia, but right across the globe."
