

ASX RELEASE

16 June 2023

Board transition

Acusensus Limited (ASX:ACE) (Acusensus) announces that Thomas Patterson, who has been a member of the Board for the past three-and-a-half years, has advised that he will resign as a Non-Executive Director at the end of this month to focus on other business interests and to assist in the balance of an independent Board.

Chair of the Acusensus Board, Ravin Mirchandani, said, "Now that Acusensus has successfully completed its initial public offering, Tom's transition from the Board is part of an effort to ensure that the Board comprises a sufficient number of independent Non-Executive Directors. We have been conducting a Non-Executive Director search and look forward to making further announcements in due course.

"On behalf of the Board and Acusensus, I would like to thank to Tom for his guidance since he joined the Board. His support helped us to achieve the successful listing of Acusensus. Tom was also instrumental in helping secure the interim fund raises that Acusensus undertook prior to listing. We wish him well in his future endeavours."

About Acusensus

Acusensus is a technology company that was founded in 2018 with a mission to design and develop artificial intelligence enabled road safety solutions. Collaborating with governments and commercial stakeholders to tackle distracted driving globally is Acusensus' first priority.

Acusensus has pioneered intelligent solutions that provide anywhere, anytime digital evidence that can be used in conjunction with law enforcement to drive behavioural change and improve road safety. Acusensus technology is used to detect and provide prosecutable evidence of distracted driving (mobile phone use), seatbelt compliance, speeding, railway crossing compliance and the monitoring of vehicles of interest.

Acusensus listed on the Australian Securities Exchange in January 2023. Acusensus is headquartered in Melbourne, Australia, with offices also in Sydney, Brisbane, London (UK) and Las Vegas (United States).
