Environmental Works Program initiated for Speewah Project

The Board of Tivan Limited (ASX: TVN) (“Tivan” or the “Company”) is pleased to advise that the Company has initiated a desktop and site-based works program to facilitate the environmental approvals process for the Speewah Vanadium-Titanium-Iron Project (“Speewah”) in Western Australia.

Tivan previously engaged Perth-based environmental consultancy Animal Plant Mineral (“APM”) to undertake an Environmental Approvals Scoping Study for Speewah to commence early engagement with key regulatory stakeholders, confirm environmental approval pathways, identify knowledge gaps in existing environmental data and develop scopes of work for baseline technical studies to augment current information and support development of the environmental impact assessment (refer to ASX announcement of 22 March 2023). The Study has been completed and informs the baseline and technical studies that will be required to support the Environmental Impact Statement for the Speewah Project.

Tivan has now commissioned a number of desktop environmental assessments with specialised consultants including for terrestrial biology, hydrology, hydrogeology, subterranean fauna and short-range endemics. A two-season, comprehensive biological survey is also required for the Speewah Project site, consistent with the WA Environmental Protection Authority (“WA EPA”) environmental factor guidelines. Tivan has engaged APM to conduct these site-based surveys, with the dry season biological field survey scheduled to commence in early August.

Commencement of these studies and the site-based survey is an important step towards progressing a comprehensive environmental assessment for the Speewah Project.

Comment from Executive Chairman

Mr Grant Wilson commented:

“Commencing site-based surveys at Speewah ensures that Tivan remains on its expedited path to project delivery. Our early, genuine and inclusive engagement with Traditional Owners since April has provided the basis for Tivan to proceed whilst the dry is here this year. Our team and colleagues will tread gently and respectfully on country”.

This announcement has been approved by the Board of the Company.
