Healius announces Group Executive of Pathology departure

Healius Limited (ASX: HLS) today announced its Group Executive of Pathology, Dr Jan Van Rooyen, would leave the business, effective immediately to return to his family in South Africa. Dr Van Rooyen joined Healius in June 2023.

Healius CEO and Managing Director Paul Anderson thanked Dr Van Rooyen for his work at Healius and wished him the best as he returns to his home and family.

Mr Anderson will temporarily lead the Pathology business while a search for a new head is undertaken. Mr Anderson has been heavily involved in the company's Pathology Transformation Reset Program and will continue working with the Pathologists and the Pathology Leadership Team to implement the planned improvements.

As a priority, Mr Anderson is leading the Pathology Operating Model restructure, rebuilding a clinically and customer focused business. The operating model redesign is aimed at strengthening the pathology business in a changing diagnostics market.

Healius' Pathology transformation is well underway, and the company is working closely with its 200 pathologists to establish better ways of working with a new operating model.

Healius will conduct a global search for a new Group Executive of Pathology to lead the Pathology business with a strong clinical focus.

The release of this announcement has been authorised by the Chair and the CEO.
