CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER CHANGES

Sydney, 31 July 2024 – Tyro announces the resignation of its Chief Financial Officer (CFO), Prav Pala and the appointment of Emma Burke as its new CFO.

Mr Pala will finish with Tyro on 15 November 2024 following a handover with Ms Burke who will start with Tyro on 28 October.

Mr Pala is leaving Tyro after ten years to take on a CFO role at a private Australian based company.

Tyro CEO and Managing Director Jon Davey acknowledged Mr Pala’s significant contribution since joining Tyro in 2014 and, more recently, the support provided to him following his appointment as CEO in 2022.

“I would like to thank Prav for his commitment to Tyro over the past decade, which predates our listing on the ASX in 2019. He has been a valued member of the executive team and leader of our finance function. We wish him every success in his future endeavours.”

Ms Burke’s appointment follows an extensive executive search process. She has over 25 years’ experience in senior finance and commercial roles at large, fast-paced public companies both in Australia and internationally. She joins from listed property group Stockland, where she was most recently Deputy Chief Financial Officer. Prior to this she held senior finance roles at Coca-Cola Amatil and British American Tobacco.

Mr Davey said: “I am pleased to welcome Emma to Tyro. She is a seasoned leader and will bring some fantastic commercial experience and fresh thinking to our business.”

Ms Burke is a Fellow of CPA Australia and Graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors. She holds a Masters of Business in Accounting and Finance, and a Bachelor of Manufacturing Management, both from the University of Technology, Sydney.

Pursuant to Listing Rule 15.5, this announcement has been authorised for release by Tyro’s Board of Directors.
