Barminco extends underground mining contract with Regis Resources at Duketon

Perenti Limited (ASX: PRN) ('Perenti' or 'the Company') is pleased to announce that Barminco and Regis Resources Ltd (ASX: RRL) ('Regis') have extended the current contract for the provision of underground mining services at the Duketon Operations, comprising both the Rosemont and Garden Well underground mines in the Goldfields region of Western Australia.

The alliance style agreement with Regis provides long-term visibility and certainty for both parties. As announced by Perenti on 2 April 2024, the initial contract had a term of three years and a mechanism to extend by a further 12-month period on a rolling basis.

- Additional contract value: Approximately A$180 million.
- Additional contract term: 12 months (extended until 30 March 2028).
- Services: Underground development, production and support services.
- Capital requirement: No new growth capital required.

Mark Norwell, Managing Director & CEO of Perenti said, "We strongly believe that collaborative and long-term client relationships create enduring value. The Barminco and Regis alliance agreement enables a framework for value creation and planning certainty for both parties. We are very pleased and appreciative to extend this agreement for another year and look forward to continuing to work with Regis."

Gabrielle Iwanow, President of Contract Mining at Perenti said, "Having recently visited both Garden Well and Rosemont to spend time with the team and see the quality of operations, I'm pleased that Regis and Barminco have agreed to extending the alliance for an additional year. Regis is one of Australia's leading gold producers and we have developed a strong working relationship with them at their Duketon Operations. Barminco was proudly founded in Western Australia, and we continue to work closely with our clients around the world and here at home to deliver certainty and value."
