Hywel Dda University Health Board provides primary, secondary and community and dental health services to around 380,000 people in west Wales. It is responsible for four acute hospitals, five community hospitals, two integrated care centres in addition to general practices, dental practices, community pharmacies, ophthalmic practices, and care in individuals' own homes.

Alcidion CEO and MD, Kate Quirke said: “Introducing Alcidion’s Miya Precision Platform will support Hywel Dda to centralise and digitise essential patient information, optimising multiple inputs of clinical information and patient care metrics across its diverse service network to support improved patient flow and capacity management as well as clinical management of deteriorating patients. Won in a competitive tender process, this is the first contract we have secured with a Health Board in Wales, which is a deeply established and respected model of tertiary healthcare in the Northern Hemisphere.
