ASX ANNOUNCEMENT

Strategic Product Update

IMEXHS Limited (ASX: IME) (Company) advises that the major software development for the New Value Proposition, to be branded Aquila+, is largely complete. The product is now installed and operating in eight sites and is being implemented for new contracts.

The programme to develop Aquila+ commenced at the beginning of 2024. While development continues on further features, the platform began in Beta testing during Q4 FY24 and is now a fully live commercial product. The timeline and cost to develop Aquila+ is in line with plan.

The key objectives have been to:

- a) drive efficiencies and quality throughout the radiology workflow through an automated AI driven worklist allocation, system resilience, industry leading post sale service, fastest implementation time (less than one day as opposed to more than a week), and highest security standard.
- b) improve the productivity of radiologists – including an ability to sit across multiple PACS systems for teleradiology, access to hundreds of FDA and CE approved AI diagnostic tools, access to faster image downloads, reduced clicks and automated next study opening, and AI enabled report writing.
- c) drive operational benefits for IMEXHS through – sharply reduced engineering operations cost, and sharply reduced storage and compute costs via the multi-tenant architecture.

The company is now selling and contracting Aquila+ which is the successor to Aquila v3.6. The two platforms will co-exist for about twelve months. While Aquila+ takes with it all the functionality of Aquila v3.6, it adds a much wider capability of the entire platform and embedded menu of tools, making Aquila+ a unique offering in the market.

One of the key criteria for the New Value Proposition development is to provide the highest security standards for medical data in the sector. IMEXHS has received final audit recommendation for ISO 27001 Certification for the new platform development Aquila+. Further to this certification, Compensar, a large compensation fund with 22 hospitals, has tested penetration and other security features of Aquila+ against global competitors. As a result, it has selected and installed Aquila+ in the first of its 22 hospitals.

The ability to reduce storage and compute costs, increased visualisation speed, seamless updating, and the achievement of the highest service levels are made possible by using Kubernetes and multi-tenant architecture.

Formal market launches and digital marketing in Latin America commence in April 2025.

Authorised for release by the Board of Directors of IMEXHS Limited.
