Tamboran and its Board of Directors (Board) are committed to having the highest standards of ethical behaviour and an effective system of corporate governance for the Company, commensurate with its size and scope of operations. The Company is fully supportive of the “if not, why not” disclosure-based approach to governance adopted by the ASX Governance Recommendations. It also supports the recognition within the ASX Governance Recommendations that there is no single model of corporate governance, and that good corporate governance practice is not restricted to adopting the recommendations contained in the ASX Governance Recommendations. Tamboran’s policies and practices in FY2025 complied with the ASX Governance Recommendations except to the extent otherwise indicated.

Principle 1: Lay solid foundations for management and oversight

Roles and responsibilities of the Board and management

The Board operates in accordance with the Board Charter, which is available on the Company’s website. Relevant details in respect of each Director standing for election or re-election by shareholders are contained within the explanatory notes of the Notice of Annual General Meeting.

Director and senior executive biographies are provided in the Company's Definitive Proxy Statement, which will be filed no later than 120 days after 30 June 2025.

Written agreements with Directors and senior executives

Diversity & Inclusion Policy

The Board has adopted a Diversity & Inclusion Policy, which is available on the Company's website.

The Diversity & Inclusion Policy sets out the positive steps taken by the Company to ensure that current and prospective employees are not discriminated against, either directly or indirectly, based on gender, marital or family status, sexual orientation, gender identity, age, race, disabilities, ethnicity, religion beliefs, socio-economic or culture background, perspective and experience.

As at 30 June 2025, the company had 48 full-time employees. Of this, 17 employees (35%) were females, which is considered acceptable given the Company's size and industry. As at 30 June 2025, there were no females on the Board and three full-time females (25%) in senior management (defined as Vice President and above). The Board has set a gender diversity target of 25% across all levels of the company and is pleased with the progress made in the past 12 months. In seeking to achieve this target, the organization strives to include a diverse candidate pool (not only gender), but selection is based on the best suited candidate for each role.

Performance evaluation

The Board will, with the advice and assistance of the Nomination and Governance Committee, review and evaluate the performance of the Board and each Board committee and each individual Director against the relevant charters, corporate governance policies, and agreed goals and objectives. The Board, with assistance of the Nomination and Governance Committee will conduct these evaluations every one to two years. The requirement for these evaluations is set out in the Board Charter, and Nomination and Corporate Governance Charter. A self-evaluation of the Board and each Committee was undertaken during FY2025, and several recommendations were discussed and considered. A review of the Board's needs and composition was also conducted during FY2025 as part of the Board Skills Matrix and changes to composition of certain committees were instituted as a result of this.

Compensation related performance reviews for the Chief Executive Officer and senior management take place at least annually. The Compensation Committee has accountability in its charter to oversee these reviews and report to the Board on their outcomes. Disclosures in the 'Executive and Director Compensation' section of the Definitive Proxy Statement are made in relation to each reporting period as to the performance evaluations that were undertaken and the process that was followed.

Principle 2: Structure the Board to be effective and add value

Appointment and renewal

The Board has an established Nomination and Governance Committee. The charter for the Nomination and Governance Committee is available on the Company's website. The current members of the Nomination and Governance Committee are:

- Fred Barrett (Chairman, independent, non-executive director);
- Andrew Robb (independent, non-executive director)
- David Siegel (independent, non-executive director); and
- Ryan Dalton (independent, non-executive director)

The Nomination and Governance Committee held four meetings during FY2025, which all members elected at the relevant time attended.

Board skills matrix

The Board has been structured to ensure that it has the necessary skills and expertise, considering the circumstances of the Company, and can effectively represent stakeholder interests. The overall skills and expertise of Tamboran's Board of Directors encompass oil and gas, health, safety, environment and sustainability, geology, engineering, political awareness, corporate finance, legal, investor relations, financial literacy, risk management, capital and public markets, commercial marketing, M&A, and regulatory.

The Board as presently constituted provides an effective mixture and balance of skills and expertise in order to achieve the Company's strategic objectives.

Independence and majority

In determining whether a director is "independent", the Board has adopted the definition of this word in the ASX Governance Recommendations. Consequently, a director will be considered "independent" if that director is free of any interest, position or relationship that might influence, or reasonably be perceived to influence, in a material respect their capacity to bring an independent judgement to bear on issues before the Board and to act in the best interests of the entity as a whole. The Board will consider the materiality of any given relationship on a case-by-case basis, with the Board Charter to assist in this regard.

The Board considers that at 30 June 2025, Dick Stoneburner, Fred Barrett, Patrick Elliott, Andrew Robb, David Siegel Ryan Dalton and Jeffrey Bellman were independent Directors, free from any business or any other relationship that could materially interfere with, or could reasonably be perceived to interfere with, the independent exercise of those Directors' judgement and each is able to fulfil the role of an independent director as recommended in the ASX Governance Recommendations.

Biographical information and the length of service in respect of each Director is set out in the Company's Definitive Proxy Statement, which will be filed no later than 120 days after 30 June 2025.

As at 30 June 2025, the Board was comprised of nine directors; one director was an executive, seven directors were independent and one director was considered not to be independent. Therefore, a majority of the Board was considered independent.

Several changes were made to the Board on 28 July 2025. The previous Managing Director/Chief Executive Officer, Joel Riddle, stepped down and resigned as a director. Dick Stoneburner, the Chairman of the Board was appointed as Interim Chief Executive Officer and therefore is currently not considered independent, and John Bell resigned as a director. On 28 July 2025 Scott Sheffield and Phillip Pace were appointed as Non-Executive Directors of Tamboran.

Scott Sheffield is not considered to be independent as Bryan Sheffield is an immediate family member, who beneficially is the Company's largest shareholder and an executive officer of the Company's joint venture partners, Daly Waters Energy, LP and Sheffield Holdings, LP.

The Company considers that the composition of the Board is appropriate given the size and specialist nature of the Company's business. Following the Board changes on 28 July 2025, the Board considers that a majority of the Board is still independent.

Under the Company's Amended and Restated Bylaws, the Directors, are obliged to present one third of themselves for re-election at each annual general meeting of the Company.

The Company's external auditor is consulted for advice by the Audit and Risk Management Committee. At this stage the Company's operational and financial functions are not complex, and all expenditure authorisations are undertaken in accordance with a comprehensive matrix of delegated authority.

Material exposure to risks

As an unconventional gas exploration company, Tamboran faces inherent risks in its activities, including operational, economic, environmental, social sustainability and regulatory risks which may have a material impact on the Company's ability to create value for its shareholders.

It monitors and receives advice on areas of operation and financial risks and considers strategies for appropriate risk management. All operational and financial strategies adopted are aimed at responsibly improving the value of the Company's shares. However, the Directors recognise that natural resource exploration and evaluation is inherently risky.

Climate change and greenhouse gas risks are assessed in the same way as other financial risks. As part of Tamboran's climate change risk review, we begin by assessing any changes in our own operating environment. This includes legislative and regulatory changes in Australia or the Northern Territory; new investor expectations or reporting recommendations, industry led commitments, emerging stakeholder concerns, and technological advancements.

We then consider if the likelihood or impact of our climate risks have changed, or if there are new risks to evaluate. Finally, we review our controls to assess whether they are effectively managing the risks and if we need to implement additional controls.
